

From Nils Bergquist's daughter:

Hi all, I have some unfortunate news to share - My dad passed away last Friday. He passed peacefully in his sleep. His health had deteriorated the past couple of months, but it was still a surprise. I'm happy that he's reunited with my mom, so hopefully she can keep him in line in the afterlife.

We have tentative plans to have some sort of memorial service in the Spring, and can share more information once we have a more definite plan in place. As most people know, my dad was a Navy vet and very proud of his time serving on the USS Nautilus. If anyone would like to make a donation in his name to the Submarine Force Museum, where the Nautilus is currently stationed, I'm sure he would be very appreciative. <https://ussnautilus.org/donate-now/>